STOCKTON, Calif. – The City of Stockton Office of Violence Prevention (OVP) will be sharing information about the work they do and the positive steps they take toward reducing violent crime in our community. Data Café will be held Tuesday, August 16, 2022, 10:00 a.m. at Van Buskirk Community Center, 734 Houston Ave. This public presentation will focus on actual program data and outcome statistics. All members of the community are welcome and encouraged to attend. This meeting is open to anyone interested in violence reduction.

“Through the Data Café, the Office of Violence Prevention will share information about the efforts we are making to help reduce violence in the City,” said Director Lora Larsen. “The more we share about violence reduction strategies, the more at-risk individuals we can help with creating better lives for themselves, their families, and the community.”
